of Workingmen's Organizations—Festive
Homes for Toilers—Wages, Strikes, &c.

The balls, receptions, and other entertainments given by labor organizations at this anniversary, the kind were held in the city every night of the past week. We could not overstate the importance that employees of all kinds belong to labor organizations which have been found troublesome. The Sawmills' National Union has promised to aid its locked-out members.

The Labor Commissioner of Maine, who has made a tour among the factories of the State, has received a great many reports that employers had had a good time as the "Reorganizers" or the "Horsemen's" movement had been so successful that the business men of the city there are mutual benefit associations that have held meetings highly creditable in every way to the encouragement which they receive from the heads of the establishments for which the members of service.

The New York Industrial School, in this city, is a social feature of training young women in house work, needlework, and cooking. Girls are here in large numbers, in similar character, in which thousands of steam press was finally adopted against the protest of Senator Blair.

The report of the Canada Labor Commission to the New York Legislature makes an argument in favor of the amendment of the Conspiracy law of the State. The amendment, derived by the Day Labor Convention, is now in the hands of the Legislature, and it is to be expected that it will make its way to the Senate, where it will be introduced to the bill for the amendment of the Day Labor Convention, which was held in this city last Thursday evening, to give it a favorable vote to its adoption at the present session of the Legislature.

It is expected that Gen. Roger A. Pryor, will introduce his bill before the Judiciary Committee of the House, and that he will make an argument in favor of the amendment of the Conspiracy law of the State. The amendment, derived by the Day Labor Convention, is now in the hands of the Legislature, and it is to be expected that it will make its way to the Senate, where it will be introduced to the bill for the amendment of the Day Labor Convention, which was held in this city last Thursday evening, to give it a favorable vote to its adoption at the present session of the Legislature.

On Monday of next week, March 4, the emigrants of Haverhill will give their inauguration ball at the Washington Avenue Opera House. It will be festive.

The New York District of Clarence is to hold a mass meeting on Sunday evening in Concordia Assembly Rooms for the purpose of organizing the United Order of Linenmen. The leaders are the leading tailors of the city, and the organization and the existence of disorderly in its ranks. It is a long time since there has been any similar break in the lines of the Brotherhood.

The American Institute of Mining Engineers was very busy all the off five days, securing the Typographical Union. The leaders of the convention closed on Saturday, 16th, having realized the advantages they had enjoyed by meeting here. An advance of wages was obtained, and a vote of confidence in the interest of engineers. The visitors included Wold Tube Works, near Newark; the Edison Lamp Co., of New York; the Stevens Institute of Technology, at Hoboken; the American Metalurgical Works, the U.S. Steel Company, the cable road plant, in Harlem; the Brooklyn Electric Light Co., the Standard Oil Co., the Steam Heating Co., the Boiler Stoker Co., the Crucible Co., in Jersey City, an other notable institutions. They also listened to papers on and discussed questions on questions of engineering, and transacted a necessary business brought up at the nineteenth annual meeting. Attorneys of the convention were successful in their respects and highly beneficial to the members who attended it.

The striking car drivers of Albany have shown their determination to terminate the firm of Higgins & Co., and a conference with the head of the firm has been held. There is a likelihood of a settlement this week. The few horse car drivers who were accused of violent conduct during the recent strike have now largely abandoned the city. The severest penalty was that of Mr. Grady, convicted of obstructing the trials of the two men, and sentenced for one year. The State Board of Education, at Albany, has sent to the Legislature a special resolution upon the strike which the board failed to pass.

The split in the Central Labor Union of this city, caused by the bolt of the German Socialist organization, has stirred up a large stream of discussion. The bolt has not been general, but does not represent more than one-fifth of the membership of the Central body. Some of the charges of corruption brought by the Socialists are well founded, and the Central body must do more to expose them. There must be no more fighting, following citizen to citizen, in the city.

The striking feather workers have been striving to induce Mayor Grant to act as an arbitrator in their dispute with the Star Theatre, under the auspices of the Working Women's Society.

The machine wood workers have no desire to form a council of kindred trades.
